PLANES AND GUNS ON RUMANIAN FRONTIER

Foreign Military Attaches Estimate Stalin's Forces, Poised Less Than 500 Miles from the Dardanelles, Greatly Superior in Numbers to German Troops Now Stationed in Balkan Principality or Enroute There; Civilians Crowd In Shelters As Nazi Raiders Pound London and Liverpool From Dawn to Dusk

5,000 TROOPS WITH PICKS, SPADES, ROPES AND DRILLS CLEAR DEBRIS AFTER LONDON ASSAULT

By the Associated Press
Russia's reported massing of Red army troops, planes and guns along the Soviet-Rumanian frontier posed a mystery today as official circles agreed the next few days may tell whether Europe's conflict is destined to overrun the Balkans.

Presumably the spread of war would arise from a Rome-Berlin axis thrust at Turkey and the strategic Dardanelles.

The Turks, aided by British engineers, were reported "feverishly constructing fortifications on the Turkish-Bulgarian frontier."

Greece and Turkey were said to be closely cooperating, and the Turkish press defiantly reiterated a challenge that 2,000,000 Turkish bayonets await any axis attempt at invasion.

Both Germany and Russia were reported strengthening their military positions in the area near the mouth of the Danube river, which flows into the Black Sea.

But Russia's role was clouded with uncertainty. Two conjectures were paramount:

1. Would Russia, as Turkey's friend and with her own stake in southeast Europe involved, oppose a joint German-Italian onslaught?

2. Or did the presence of Russia's Red armies merely signify that Russia was preparing to share in the spoils as she did in Poland after the German blitzkrieg had crushed the Poles?

Foreign military attaches estimated that the Russian army and air force, poised less than 500 miles from the Dardanelles, was greatly superior in numbers to German troops now stationed in Rumania or en route there.

In the battle of Britain, 5,000 troops with picks, spades, ropes and pneumatic drills began clearing up the wreckage of London after the empire capital's most terrible night bomber pilots returning from the attack said fires were visible as far away as the mouth of the Thames.

The raiders reportedly dropped a total of 77,000 pounds of explosives on London, Liverpool and other English cities in the last 24 hours, and heavy new attacks were launched this morning.

With rescue squads still digging in the London ruins for dead and wounded, a government communication said: "It is feared that the number of persons killed and injured is somewhat larger than during recent night attacks."

At least 15 persons were killed and 20 wounded when heavy bombs exploded head-on against two air-raid shelters in two northeast English towns.

Hitler's High Command—while still giving no hint of German plans in southwest Europe—reported Nazi activity for the first time in the vicinity of Britain's key stronghold of Gibraltar.

A long-range German bomber attacked and "destroyed" an armed merchant ship west of Cadiz, Spain, in the Gibraltar area, the High Command said.

A clue to destructive chaos inflicted by RAF bombers against German objectives was seen in a reported broadcast by the German-controlled Dutch radio saying 4,000 Dutch workers had been sent to Hamburg, Germany, to help in "reconstruction."

With Nazi troops marching into Rumania in increasing numbers, the authoritative British Press Association declared there were "no unmistakable indications that a diplomatic break between Britain and Rumania cannot long be delayed."

The London Air Ministry reported that British bombers, defying bad weather, pounded many objectives during the night—including the Kiel and Wilhelmshaven naval bases, oil plants, the great Krupp

"Draft Jar" to See Service Again?

Under a glass casing in Philadelphia's Independence Hall rests the historic glass jar used in the last World War to select doughboys for the draft. Its bottom is lined with the capsules, each containing a number, which, when chosen in blindfolded draw, determined the men called to active service. The uniformed guide, above, could tell tourists that this historic jar may see service in present conscription.

Willkie Offers Suggestions to Help Bring High Speed Production of Defense Needs

Republican Presidential Nominee Charges Effort to Raise Racial and Religious Issues Through "Scurrilous" Pamphlet

IN SYRACUSE TONIGHT

BY THEODORE F. KOOP
Aboard Willkie Train enroute to Syracuse, N. Y., Oct. 14—(A.P.)—Wendell L. Willkie offered today two suggestions which he said would help bring about high speed production of defense equipment:

1. Elimination of any delay in "reaching an agreement upon the type of plane or tank to be manufactured."

2. "Relentless" action against firms "who are said to be jockeying around for bids and thereby delaying the progress of the defense program in order to make a slightly larger profit."

The proposals came in a statement issued by the Republican presidential nominee as he began a two-day campaign trip across New York state. His goal is to build up

CIRCULAR IS REPUDIATED BY DEM. OFFICIALS

New York, Oct. 14—(A.P.)—A circular under the heading of the Colored Division of the Democratic National Committee which attacked Wendell L. Willkie because of his German ancestry was disowned today by committee officials.

Julian D. Rainey, chairman of the colored division, said at a press conference that the pamphlet was the work of "a volunteer worker who is very enthusiastic" and that the circular was never distributed, and that it came to light through a "newspaperman who pilfered a copy off the floor."

The volunteer worker, Charles P. Ray, Rainey said, had been dropped from the staff.

Edward J. Flynn, chairman of the National Committee reiterated his repudiation of the pamphlet.

Rainey said the pamphlet had no distribution "except through Republican newspapers." He said that he had ordered copies of the pamphlet destroyed Saturday morning and that he knew nothing of the pamphlet until it was called to his attention at Boston, where he spent the weekend at his home.

Flynn issued a statement at the conference in which he said he had "gotten to the bottom of the incident of the misspoken colored circular."

Flynn said that the matter, like other material, was awaiting the visa of responsible people connected with the national committee, that it represented only the idea of a volunteer, and that "of course it would never have been issued."

St. Paul, Minn., Oct. 14—(A.P.)—Gov. Harold Stassen, in a telegram to Edward J. Flynn, chairman of the Democratic national committee, demanded an apology today to

TO REVIEW PROFITEER LITIGATION

Supreme Court Agrees to Consider Case Appealed By Justice Department In Effort to Obtain Ruling on Federal Government's Power to Regulate Emoluments On National Defense Contracts Involving $13,365,000

BROWDER IS GRANTED HEARING ON SENTENCE

Washington, Oct. 14—(A.P.)—The Supreme Court agreed today to review litigation appealed by the Justice Department in an effort to obtain a ruling on the federal government's power to regulate profits on national defense contracts.

Specifically involved were Justice Department charges that the Bethlehem Shipbuilding Corporation had made "unconscionable profits" on 86 ships constructed for the government during the World War.

The government petition said approximately $13,365,000 was at issue in the litigation. The corporation won in lower courts.

Agreement to review the controversy means that arguments will be heard by the court in a few weeks, followed by a final decision on the issues of the case.

Three justices—Stone, Roberts and Murphy—did not participate in the action.

This was one of approximately 325 cases acted upon today at the first business session of the 1940-41 term that opened last Monday.

The litigation had accumulated during the four-month summer recess.

Earl Browder, the Communist party's presidential candidate who was convicted of willfully using a passport obtained by false statements, was granted a high court review. He was sentenced to four years' imprisonment and fined $2,000.

ACCIDENTS LIST 7 PEDESTRIANS

By The Associated Press
Highways jammed with motorists taking advantage of perfect Indian summer weather were the scenes of many fatal accidents in Pennsylvania over the weekend.

A head-on collision two miles north of Shamokin dam in Snyder county, killed two brothers and injured three other members of the family. The dead were Charles Keys, 27 and Samuel Keys, Jr., of West Fairview, Cumberland county.

One man was killed in an airplane crash near Wellsboro. The light plane struck a high tension electric line apparently while attempting to land and the pilot was burned beyond recognition.

At least seven of the automobile victims were pedestrians. They were: Merle Prough, 22, of Calvin, Huntingdon county, struck Saturday night on Route 22 near Mill Creek, Charles Shuman, 67, Highspire, struck near his home, Dr. Alfred O. Gery, 75, veteran Perkiomen valley physician, struck near East Greenville, Henry N. Hoy, 75, hit by a truck near his Bellefonte home, Eli Bacok, 51, struck on a Farrell street, Leominster, Mercer, James Dirt, 73, New Castle.

Davis received a one-year sentence, with six months off for time he already had served—he now is free—and Schoenhaut was given a suspended two-year sentence. Both testified for the state.

Under state law, Hines will be eligible for parole after serving two years and eight months. He spent his last day of freedom yesterday golfing on a Long Island course. Hines said he has been "golfing and swimming all summer. I never felt better in my life."

TOM MIX

DEATH OF TOM MIX MOURED IN MOVIE COLONY

Hollywood, Oct. 14—(A.P.)—There's sadness in the movie colony today—grief among thousands who were and are small-boy followers of western movie—heartsache throughout Hollywood. Tom Mix is dead.

The national cowboy No. 1 was killed Saturday when his sporty, custom-built automobile overturned at high speed near Florence, Ariz. Mix, 60, was on his way from Tucson to Florence as advance agent for a circus. In the car and on his body authorities found jewels, $6,000 in cash and $1,500 in travelers' checks.

Paul Manly, aviator friend of the actor, brought the body to Hollywood at Forest Lawn Cemetery in nearby Glendale on Wednesday.

Mix had not been prominent in motion pictures for several years, but his activity with circuses and wild west shows kept bright his long-standing fame as a horseman deluxe.

Rodeos at Prescott, Ariz., and Canon City, Colo., made him national riding and roping champion in 1909 and 1910. He won a national bulldogging title at Seattle in 1909.

Mix was born at Mix Run, near DuBois, Pa. He went to Oklahoma as a young man, starting out as a cowboy and working up to the foremanship of the famous Miller Brothers "101" Ranch.

He fought in the Spanish-American war, the Boxer Rebellion and the Boer war. He was sheriff of Washington county, Okla., deputy Montgomery county, Kansas, and U. S. marshal in eastern Oklahoma and a Texas ranger.

Mix made his first movie in 1909. He worked in several hundred pictures. (Turn to Page Nine)

PLANE FATALITY NEAR WELLSBORO

Wellsboro, Oct. 14—(A.P.)—Coroner William White said today that a telephone call to Mrs. Charles M. Stewart, Worcester, Mass., practically established the identity of the victim of a plane crash here last night as her husband.

"She said she was sure the man was her husband," Coroner White said, after describing to Mrs. Stewart the plane, the number "1599" it bore.

The coroner said the identification was "as certain as it can be established" before the arrival of relatives to claim the charred body.

Mrs. Stewart, the coroner said, told him her husband, 35, salesman, took off from Syracuse, N. Y., Sunday afternoon and had promised to wire her from the city where he landed for the night. She became worried when she did not hear from him and learned of the crash from the newspapers.

Two inspectors of the Civil Aeronautics Authority, P. D. Williams, of Lock Haven, and J. R. Horton, of Newark, N. J., arrived today to investigate the crash. In addition to plane factory number and a coin purse marked "Worcester" (Turn to Page Nine)

Names of Chief Registrars In Districts Are Announced by Commissioners Along With Place for Reporting

Approximately six thousand Warren county young men between the ages of 21 and 35 years will go to their respective polling places on other places designated by the county commissioners on Wednesday between the hours of 7 a. m. and 9 p. m. to register themselves for military service in the United States forces under the national conscription program.

Such registration is compulsory for every male, citizen or alien, in the county who was born between October 17, 1904 and October 16, 1910.

The work of registering the prospective conscripts is being done voluntarily by members of election boards throughout the county under the direction of the Warren county commissioners.

Numerous volunteers who are not members of the election boards also are being used. None of those serving are receiving pay for their work.

County commissioners today completed the work of delivering supplies and instructions to the various districts and chief registrars have been furnished with pamphlets outlining the work so that the registration may be conducted as rapidly as possible.

It has been emphasized that all persons in the registration place at closing hour must be registered, no matter how long it takes. Recognizing that it will require long hours and tedious work for the board members, government regulations require that the registrars give accurate, courteous replies and that the registrars enter into no controversy with the registrants. Persons refusing to answer questions, or obstructing or delaying the registration will be under the regulations, reported promptly to the proper law-enforcing agency and action against them will be taken.

With the knowledge that there will be many who will be ill and unable to go personally to the registration places, regulations covering this situation have been formulated.

RESIGNATION OF LIBRARIAN HERE IS MADE KNOWN

It was learned today that Mrs. Francis W. Toner, associated with the Warren Public Library for many years, has tendered her resignation to the board of directors, to become effective October 31.

Soon after that, Mr. and Mrs. Toner expect to leave for the west coast, where they will make their future home.

Mrs. Toner has been a member of the library staff for more than 40 years and nine years ago on July 1 became its head librarian. Many in Warren, both adults and children, will miss her capable handling of the library's affairs and her friendly interest in daily problems of the library's patrons.

It will be recalled that her father, A. G. Beecher, was the first librarian at the old Struthers library, when it was formed here many years ago.

Mrs. Toner will be succeeded here by Leon J. Jones, who will come from Seneca Falls, N. Y., on November 8. A graduate of the Syracuse University School of Library Science, he has been associated with the library of a large consolidated school in the New York state town.

Health Education Will Be Discussed At Meeting Here

Miss Bess Exton, above, assistant in health education with the National Educational Association, will meet with Warren county educators tomorrow afternoon at four o'clock in the Warren High School building to discuss problems in health education through arrangements made by Homer M. Mohr, secretary of the Warren County Tuberculosis Society.

Her stop in Warren county will be the second of a series of visits to counties in northwestern Pennsylvania under arrangements made by the Pennsylvania Tuberculosis Society. Her assistance in school health problems is made possible by the National Tuberculosis Association.

Health programs, in which tuberculosis prevention and control are included, will receive particular attention in a conference with the Warren county public school men.

mulated. Those ill at home can register through a second person who will be given an oath by the qualified registrars and then go to the home of the sick man. His data will then be turned back to the registering board.

Persons in hospitals or confined to jail will be registered upon their discharge by the draft boards.

Those persons who are out of the city on registration day will present themselves before a registration board wherever they may be and their cards will be returned to their proper district.

The same applies to men who live elsewhere but find themselves in Warren or some other district Wednesday. They will register at the most convenient place.

Any person who fails to register Wednesday can present himself as soon as possible after Wednesday to the local draft board and if his excuse is valid will be issued a registration certificate. If not valid, provision is made for disposition of his case.

Registration boards will send their data to the county commissioners immediately after the closing of the districts Wednesday night. As soon as the figures are complete, they will be wired to Governor James in Harrisburg.

Names of those recommended for the two Warren county draft boards have not yet been released, pending approval by Governor James and President Roosevelt. It is expected that these boards will be announced by Wednesday, as they are scheduled to start their work by Thursday, when they will organize and receive from the county commissioners the list of registrants in their territory.

Within a week, the boards must send out questionnaires to the men to obtain full data on their economic, social, physical and mental status.

The local boards will then classify the men. Those who are single, with no dependents, healthy and not vital to a defense industry job, fall in Class One, which is to be drafted first.

Wednesday has been declared a holiday and local schools will be closed, except for a 30-minute period in the morning. The state liquor store will be closed and all retail sales of liquor are prohibited from 7 a. m. to 9 p. m. This includes clubs, as well as other places which sell liquor.

DRAFT SETUP COMPLETED

President Clarence A. Dykstra, 57-year-old educator, who attracted national attention as city manager of Cincinnati, has agreed to head the nation's first peace-time conscription system, following announcement that the board of regents of Wisconsin University had granted him a leave of absence.

The appointment of the university professor to the important post of director of selective service has been generally approved and his confirmation by the senate will complete the federal setup for the nationwide registration of 16,500,000 men between the ages of 21 and 35 inclusive, for possible military training next Wednesday.

Before becoming city manager of Cincinnati Dykstra was commissioner of the Los Angeles water and power department from 1923 to 1926, and its personnel director from 1926 to 1930. He also served as executive secretary of the Cleveland Civic League, the Chicago City Club and the Los Angeles City Club.

From 1909 to 1918 he was professor of political science and head of the department at the University of Kansas. He also taught at the University of California, Ohio State University, and the University of Chicago.

He served as a member of the Public Works Administration, the National Resources committee, and the Ohio advisory committee of the U. S. Employment Service.

With such a background Dykstra seems well equipped to administer the first peace-time conscription in the history of the country, when, day after tomorrow, Americans from coast to coast, Canadian border to the Gulf stream, will report to registrars to sign for service.

Each registrant will answer a number of set questions and after registration is completed will be given a card to carry with him at all times to avoid being placed in the embarrassing position of being classed as a possible "draft dodger."

Those registering will also fill out a lengthy series of questions that later will be used to select men for military training on the basis of their civilian ability and expertness in varied crafts.

Had some one faintly suggested last October that a year hence would see millions of young men of America lined up for conscription, the person making the statement would have been suspected of being "a little teched."

But October, 1940, sees that possibility turned into a reality as United States for the first time in history builds up a peace army through selective service.

In that the Army wants the first 75,000 men in camp in early November and it seems certain that a few will be selected from this section to be among the first called.

It is expected that the next Congress will lower the age limit to 18 so that young men coming out of high school will do a year's military training without disrupting their economic life, as will be the case very often under the present regulations.

But two more days and the first phase of a new military order in the United States will have been written.

From the amount of traffic noted on the streets from early morning until late last evening residents of the area yesterday took full advantage of one of the most delightful fall days ever to be experienced. Through highways were literally jammed with cars throughout the day, and local eating houses and service stations did a rushing business.

Thousands of local admirers of Tom Mix, famous screen and radio star, who made several appearances in Warren and on one occasion addressed the Kiwanis Club, are grieved to learn of his untimely passing as a result of an automobile crash.

Warren had a parade Saturday evening, despite the fact that the Dragons came out soon after the annual gridiron clash with the Red and the Green of Jamestown.

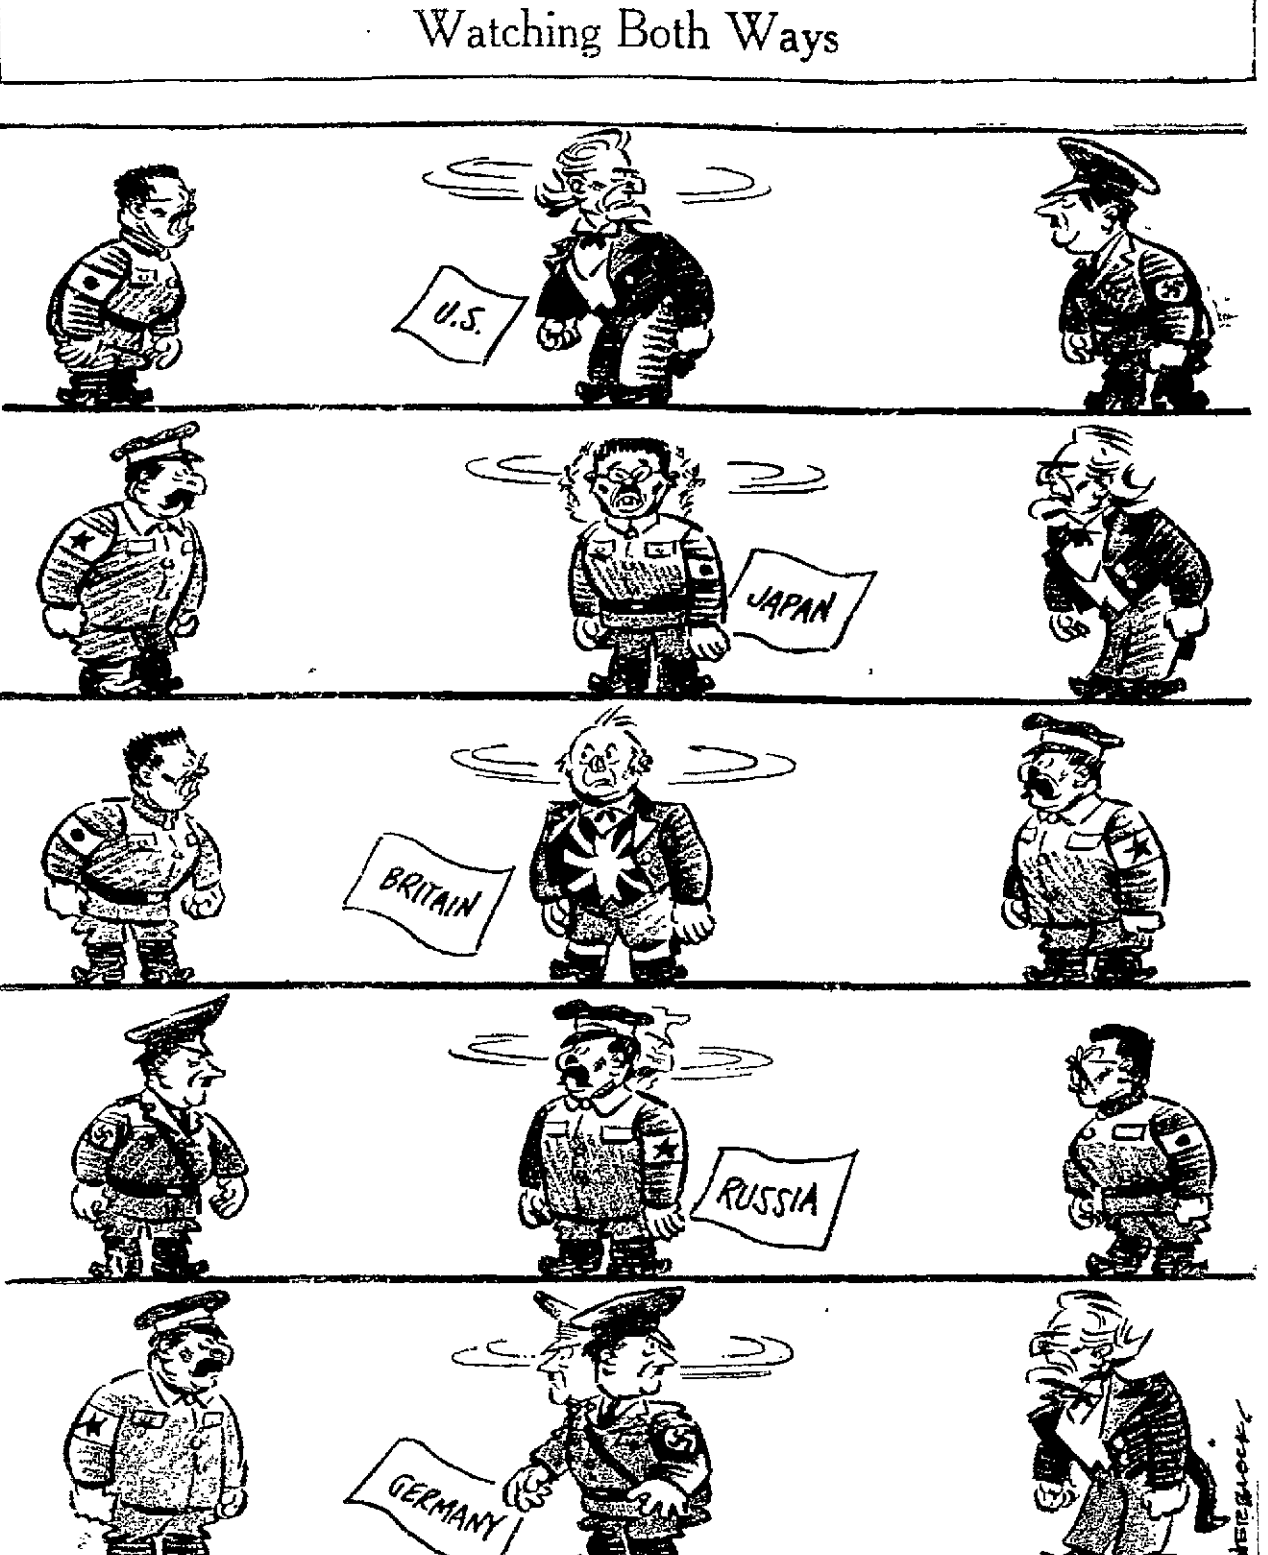

Don't forget, there will be the first day of school Wednesday morning!

Watching Both Ways

Man About Manhattan

By GEORGE TUCKER

NEW YORK—Things I'll never forget... The shout that went up in "Dodsworth" when Walter Huston took off his pants... The roar that all but drowned out Gertrude Lawrence in the "Kiss" scene with Donnie Cook in "Sky-lark"... This came when Gertrude, receiving a cold peck on the cheek from her husband, said, "I'm not a girl to ask for passion on Sunday afternoon, Tony, but try again, will you?"... The candor of Katharine Brush, who wrote "Young Man of Manhattan," telling of the time she was accused of shop-lifting in a Pittsburgh department store... Edna Ferber's description of a conversation between two young men in a restaurant in Jerusalem... One of them suggested a game of golf... "Can't make it," replied his friend, "I've got to run over to Nazareth this afternoon..." The guttural tones of Garbo in her first spoken passage on the screen, "Give Me a Scotch and Soda," in "Anna Christie"... The first time I ever saw my name over a news story... The first time I ever covered an execution... The denunciation scene in "Dead End" when the mother turns against her killer-son... Riding half way across the country in a plane one night with a lanky, silent figure whom I failed to recognize until he got out of Chicago—Gary Cooper... The stunned silence and the expressions of incredulity on people's faces when the flash came that Will Rogers was dead... Getting caught in a Communist parade in Union Square, while trying to break through to a subway station, and somebody pushing me and yelling, "Stay in line, Comrade, stay in the line."

PAUL DRAPER, like so many illustrious artists—W. Somerset Maugham, Jane Frouman, etc.—But stutters when he talks. But stuttering never interfered with Maugham's story telling... It hasn't interfered with Draper's dancing... It is conceded by almost everyone that he is the equal, and frequently, the superior or even the "likeable" Fred Astaire... I for one feel that he is... He has one number that is a tap to minute... No one around here has ever seen anything like it. I asked him how he happened to think of it, and he replied, "Oh, you have to try everything when you're in this business..." If you get over to the Versailles, where he is dancing now, ask him to do it for you... He's pretty decent about requests.

THE Pathe people have turned over hundreds of miles of newsreels to the Museum of Modern Art... It's a cavalcade of art for the last 30 years... One of the impressive passages shows Teddy Roosevelt returning from his African hunting expeditions... Another shot shows Mussolini marching on Rome... You can also see the 1924 putsch in Munich led by the then unknown Hitler... There's also a scene of Hitler addressing his followers from a window, after he has been sentenced to prison.

Another old newsreel, though not so very old at that, we caught at a "re-run" house in 6th avenue today... It showed Alphonso, King of the Spaniards, addressing the camera in very good English... This was taken just a year before Alphonso fled his throne. The gist of his remarks was that if Americans touring Spain ever ran afoul of the traffic laws he, Alphonso, would be glad to go to court and get them out.

A Washington Daybook

By JACK STINNETT

WASHINGTON—Because the House of Representatives insists that a federal employer has a right to see what he's getting when he takes on new hired help, one of the most important pieces of civil service legislation to come up in years, has bogged down.

It's the Ramspeck bill, which would bring into civil service more than 200,000 government workers not now classified.

The joker in the bill is a Senate amendment which would substitute fingerprinting for photographs as a means of identifying civil service applicants.

When it came back to the House with that rider, and without a House amendment which would have forced the government to hire workers from the 32 states which do not have their quotas of Federal workers before taking any more from over-quota states, the House went through the dome. It sent the bill back to conference with written instructions to the House conferees that the bill was not to come back without the quota amendment and with the unwritten but understood instruction that the ban on photos was to be tossed out the window.

Too Much Dynamite

THE conferees agreed on only one thing—that the bill is too full of political dynamite to go tossing around before election and so, as they are doing with a lot of political dynamite these days, they put it away until November. For the time being at least, a federal employer still can see what he's getting.

The case of those who want photos was summed up by Congressman Ed Gossett of Texas when he said: "If this amendment is adopted there is no way of telling whether the prospective employee is white or black and employees must be chosen with no idea of their appearance or physical characteristics."

The anti-photo faction claims that the present system is a discrimination against negroes and applicants who have retained that foreign-born look, although they might be Americans from way back.

The bill is deadlocked, but out of the battle came an interesting little historical item about the business of sending photos with applications to let your prospective employer get some idea of what you look like.

Not In The Law

THE civil service law has been in effect since 1883, but there's nothing in it about attaching a snapshot of your map with your application.

In 1904, an 18-year-old country school teacher in Pennsylvania decided he wanted to get a job as a railway postal clerk. He wrote to Washington and got his application and when he filed it, he included a picture of himself.

"I just thought it would be a good idea to let them know what I looked like," he says.

He got the job and so far as any one knows, that was the first time the civil service commission ever got a photo of an applicant. They must have thought it was a good idea too, for on that precedent it became a rule.

When the Ramspeck bill was being argued back and forth in the House of Representatives there was in the thick of the fight one Congressman Guy L. Moser of Douglassville, Pa., the same who 36 years ago started this sending of photos along with civil service applications, thereby establishing a custom which in 1940 has resulted in one of Congress' major squabbles.

Herbert Carlson was his brother's best man.

Fall flowers were used in decorating the home for the reception immediately following the service at the church. The 36 guests present included Mr. and Mrs. Hilmer Benson, Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Benson and daughter, Nancy, Meadville; Mr. and Mrs. Carl Benson, Mr. and Mrs. John Benson, Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Johnson, Mrs. John Sampson, Miss Hulda Benson, Everett Johnson, Jamestown, N. Warren Friends Are Privileged to Hear
 Lovely Voice Recital

At the invitation of Mrs. Allie Russell, a few friends gathered in her studio-home, Pennsylvania avenue east, on Saturday evening to enjoy a charming, informal voice recital by two young people from Chicago, Ill.

The singers, Loretta May Downing, a soprano, and John Bowles Emerson, baritone, have been studying and coaching with Glenn Drake, of Chicago, known to many in Warren as one of the leaders in his special field and on the concert stage.

Encores demanded of both young people were proof of their instant popularity. Their natural talent and sincerity of purpose were given a critical but friendly attention, resulting in the unanimous opinion that before them are unlimited possibilities in their chosen profession. New friends made in Warren will watch with considerable interest their progress and attainments.

Accompaniments for Miss Downing and Mr. Emerson were ably played by Miss Lillian Rohde, formerly of Sheffield and more recently of Ridgway. She is joining Mr. Drake's studio personnel as accompanist and assistant coach, her friends in this section will be pleased to learn.

To conclude the evening, Mrs. Russell served refreshments to feature a very pleasant social hour.

Mr. and Mrs. Drake, the young musicians, and Samuel Secor, of Ridgway, were weekend guests at Mrs. Russell's home.

The bride chose a brown two-tone silk with alligator accessories, brown hat with beaver trim and wore a corsage of Talsman roses and baby's breath. She was given in marriage by her father.

Mrs. Allen wore a diamond and Mrs. Marymont chose black velvet, with which each wore a pink rose corsage.

Six Easy Steps Take Conscripts of 21-35 From Civies to Army Life

REGISTRATION—All men 21 to 35, inclusive, register for conscription at designated place Oct. 16. Each receives identification card that certifies he has registered.

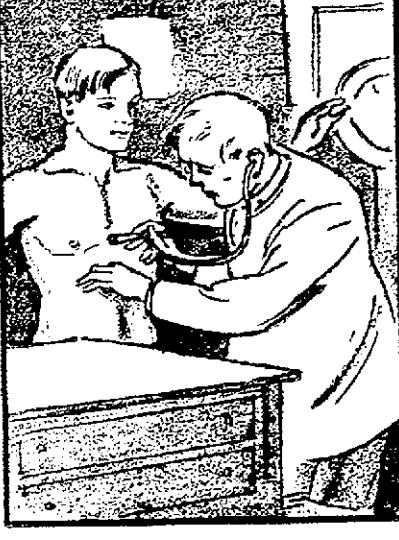

SELECTION—Registration cards are shuffled, numbered. At Washington lottery, the President draws capsules from draft bowl. Numbers in these determine order of calling draftees.

INTERROGATION—Local draft board sends questionnaires to men whose numbers are called, aids them in filling these out. Query sheets must be returned within five days.

DEFERMENT—Board weighs each questionnaire, to decide if man is eligible for deferment because he does work vital to defense or has dependents. Special boards will hear appeals.

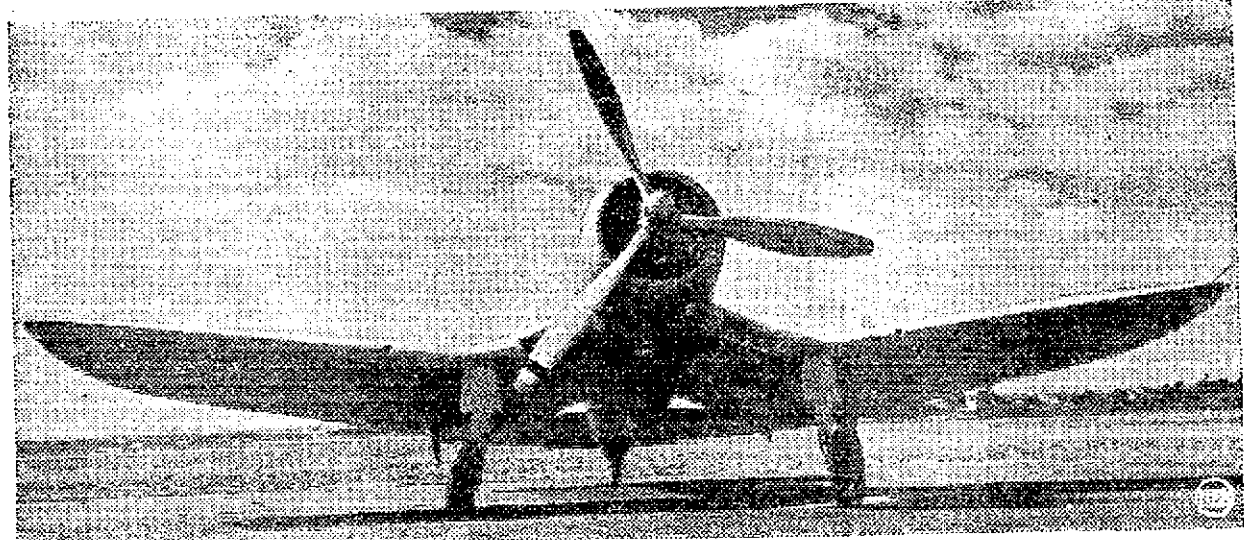

EXAMINATION—If draftee is not deferred, he is given physical examination to see if he is fit for active duty. Conscripts must have good teeth, good eyes, general good health.

ENLISTMENT—Men passing tests will be called for active service about Nov. 15. They will be assigned to camps, given a year's basic training. Thus the citizen becomes a soldier.

American, It Flies Fastest and Goes Farthest

After inspecting this new pursuit plane, built for the U. S. Navy by United Aircraft at East Hartford, Conn., Rear Admiral John H. Towers declared it "the fastest in the world." Exact speed was not disclosed, but it is reported capable of more than 400 miles per hour. Cruising range of the 2000-horsepower motor is 1700 miles, compared with the 800-mile limit of the best pursuit ships now in service.

POLITICAL FORUM

Articles appearing in this department are furnished by representatives of the respective parties in Warren county and are not intended to reflect the views or opinions of the publisher.

REPUBLICAN

The campaign issues are merging into one distinct phrase. The opposition has no arguments against the obvious failure to produce recovery, the failure to bring order into Federal book-keeping, the failure to make America strong in a chaotic world; the only answer made by the New Dealers is the senseless repetition of the worn out phrase, "Don't change." This means nothing.

If the supposed reason lying behind this weary admonition is that the New Deal leadership is endowed with any capacity for statesmanship, then why not point out some example? The New Dealers point to their "indispensable" front-man as a model of sagacity. Then why hasn't he used it?

The idea that America should not change from failure and incompetence because there is a war in Europe is a perfect example of the foggy thinking and the fear-tactics that have distinguished the present administration.

Now, if ever, is the time to change. The crisis in world affairs makes it imperative that America return to a dynamic, vital role. The most important question today, is the question of American preparedness.

A stable defense program—clearly specifying what is to be defended, how, when, where and which things come first—has not yet been decided upon by the Roosevelt administration. This despite years of threatening war and actual war all around us.

As in other grave matters, so with regard to national defense, this Administration has put policy on a 24 hour basis, changeable at the whim of the President. It is by nature incapable of the calm, thorough, unethical choice of the needed program and the steadfast adherence thereto which are prime requisites of sound progress in preparedness.

Opposition within the Administration, itself, has already impeded the efforts of the defense experts on the National Defense Advisory Commission. Moreover, the President has prevented the Commission from organizing itself and from being able to function as a unit with power to work effectively. It is simply an "advisory" group of individuals separately responsible to the President, Messrs. Knudsen, Stettinius and other members are, moreover, subject to dismissal at the whim of the President. Dismissal, for example, immediately after the coming election, if Roosevelt should win, when drastic policies of his inner clique of extremist advisers would doubtless again prevail as they did after the 1936 election.

A satisfactory defense program and stability in its execution—two essentials of adequate prepared-

DEMOCRAT

Excerpts from remarks of U. S. Senator Joseph F. Guffey, before the Amalgamated Clothing Workers at Pottsville, 2:30 p. m., Saturday, Oct. 12:

The Social Security hoax has arrived this year three weeks ahead of schedule.

In 1936 Republican propagandists, in their shameful "pay envelope" campaign, grossly and fraudulently misrepresented the Social Security program.

On the eve of another national election, the same old ghost has been hauled out of the political attic.

This time, Wendell Willkie tells us that Social Security benefits will not be paid if Roosevelt is re-elected.

Why? Because, it seems, the Social Security Board is investing its funds in government bonds, backed by the credit of Uncle Sam himself, and Willkie doesn't think much of Uncle Sam's credit.

This, in case you have forgotten, is the same Willkie who has been campaigning against the so-called "cynicism" of the New Deal and its alleged lack of faith in America.

The best possible answer to Mr. Willkie has been given by no less an authority than the financial sponsor of his own Power Trust, the House of Morgan.

In the face of trends and polls indicating overwhelming Roosevelt victory, the Morgan interests announced only ten days ago that they had increased their holdings of United States Government securities by $40,000,000, bringing their total holdings in such securities to $377,000,000, representing more than half of their total assets of $712,000,000.

Partner Thomas Lamont of the House of Morgan helped to engineer the Willkie nomination. He should take his candidate aside and tell him some of the financial facts of life.

Perhaps Willkie thinks the Social Security Board should entrust the workers' money to "public utilities privately owned," to which he professed undying devotion before he became a candidate.

As a candidate Willkie may be entitled to some poetic license, but such willful and malicious fraud is unworthy of any candidate for public office.

By his charge that the Government of the United States will not meet its just obligations, Willkie comes dangerously close to the subversive.

He warns against inflation, yet it was the very financial practices which he has always followed in his own business activity, and has not repudiated to this day, that brought the dizzy inflation of the Harding-Coolidge-Hoover era.

Wall Street has been chafing under the New Deal restraints that have curbed speculative inflation. If Wall Street's candidate were to go into the White House those restraints would be removed, with the sky the limit.

The Social Security hoax, based upon a fictitious fear of inflation, is an unconscionable piece of political bunk. Wendell Willkie should be ashamed of himself.

MAKE REPAIRS BEFORE COSTS START UPWARD

The matter of keeping a home in repairs is so important that builders and material men throughout the country are making a spirited drive to emphasize the wisdom of making repairs before costs go sky-high.

The Seneca Lumber & Supply Co., 422 Crescent Park, is advising customers to study their needs at once to avoid paying larger prices for materials as the year goes on. Taking a mental marathon through the home, they suggest jotting down the answers to these questions:

1. When you walk into the house every evening do you feel conscious of real drive to be the owner of such a fine looking home? Do the neighbors often say, with a touch of envy, "You certainly have a nice place here?"
2. Do you set aside something each month in house-repair fund?
3. Are you sure that all the steps in your house—front, back, attic, cellar, are firm and sound?
4. How about the porch?
5. Would a good wood paneling improve the appearance of the entrance hall?

6. Does the house need an extra bedroom? Is the basement damp? Is it dark? Is there space for a recreation room with perhaps an outside entrance and places provided for coats and galoshes?
7. Have you plenty of spaces for dishes, or do you really need to have corner cupboards, built into the dining room?
8. Do your hardwood floors need resurfacing, or would it be well to have one of the new patterned floors laid throughout the downstairs rooms?
9. A box window seat is comfortable and provides extra storage space for linen or blankets. Have you one?
10. There are dozens of ingenious plans for building in bunks and closets in the attic and using otherwise waste space. Have you looked them over?
11. When you look up at your roof from the attic, do any openings show between the shingles? Are these places where the flashing seems to be letting the rain water through?
12. If your house is old, it can be reshingled or given an outside layer of new siding in more modern style. Have you considered the added value such treatment would give your home?
13. Do you know that you can get "stock" doorways styled to fit almost any type of home? Is your home up to date in this important detail?

RED AND GREEN POWER TOO MUCH FOR DRAGON GRIDDERS

Reserves Lack Punch And Go Down Before Big Moon Eleven, 19-0

A big Red and Green grid machine on Saturday proved too much for the handicapped Dragons and rolled to a 19-0 victory before 5,000 fans who filled every cranny of Russell Field.

With two reserve linemen filling the spots at tackle in the Blue and White line, the Jamestown quarterbacks drove hard at those spots all afternoon, ripping off 244 yards on scrimmage and keeping the locals back on their heels nearly every minute of play.

The Dragons were unable to do much on off-tackle plays and end runs principally because of the brilliant defensive work to Coach Moon's two ends, Restivo and Perkins, who spent a great part of the game in Warren's backfield. With Joe Tamburine on the bench, the Dragons could not rely on an overhead game to take them goalward and had to be content with battering Jamestown's heavy wall for whatever yardage they could pick up.

"Pete" Wilson stole the show for the Moon crew, chalking up big gains which led the first touchdown and then darting through Warren's line for a 40-yard dash to the goal. Hal Corcoran, who did the passing and kicking, was also a bright light in the winning backfield and Landy, shift half-back, accounted for a number of sizeable gains.

Ball-carrying honors for the Dragons were about evenly distributed between Floy Landers, who was triple-threat for the Dragons on Saturday, Rex Graham and "Spinner" Johnson, who filled in at quarterback instead of occupying his usual fullback position. Captain Walt Fredericks was in on every line play despite the fact that the Red and Green was concentrating on getting him out of the way.

Local fans gulped in dismay as Jamestown marched 50 yards to the first touchdown in the first few minutes of the game. Fredericks kicked to Perkins who came up to the 41. Landy got three through the center and Wilson got seven and a first down off right tackle. Landy and Wilson got eight at the same spot and Landy went through the opening for twelve yards and a first down on the two yard line. Wilson got a yard and Landy went over for the score which was nullified by an offside penalty. Wilson picked up two yards and Landy, on a reverse, skirted Warren's right end for the touchdown. Wilson hit through right tackle for the point, standing up.

Warren got out to its own 43 after the kickoff, but failed to advance because of two fumbles, and Landers booted to Newgreen on the 20, the quarterback coming

REDSKINS STILL SHOW NO SIGNS OF SLIDING BACK

Chicago, Oct. 14.—(T)—Dr. John Bain Sutherland is the "rookie" coach of the National Football League, but you'd never know it by the current doings of his Brooklyn Dodgers.

The Bears turned their first four plays of their game with Detroit into a touchdown. Bill Osmanski dashed 24 yards for the score. Jack Manders kicked the placement and that ended the point-making for a 7-0 triumph.

The veteran Jock looks anything but a newcomer to the cash sport as he drives his Dodgers on the upward trail, apparently eager and ready to step into the eastern division lead if and when the undefeated Washington Redskins fall.

The Dodgers, using considerably more passes than Sutherland's famed college eleven employed, racked up their third straight triumph yesterday, a 21 to 0 decision over the Pittsburgh Steelers before 19,468 delighted Flatbush fans. Jock's boys scored twice on aerials and once on the ground while a sturdy defense bottled the visitors.

The club's only setback this season was a 24-17 loss to the Redskins in Sutherland's debut as a pro coach.

Washington, however, hasn't shown the slightest inclination to fade, turning back the stubborn Chicago Cardinals, 28 to 21, yesterday.

cent formation formed while playing "When the Moon Comes over the Mountains." Jamestown's band serenaded the Warren stands and formed a large "W" during its maneuvers.

Main Grabs Check's Pass For Lone Score; Brown's Run Feature

As was predicted, the Red Jackets got their first real test yesterday afternoon, and it took a lot of football before the locals hung up their fourth win of the season by a count of 7-0 over Trafford A. C.

After a scoreless first half, in which the jackets had seriously threatened on one occasion, only to be tossed by an offside penalty, Harold Brown shook himself loose with a 28-yard run from the Warren 44 to the Trafford 17, setting up the score.

"Lefty" Check got a yard at left tackle, Rosequist hit the line for five and six in two tries and it was first down on the five. Brownie was stopped cold on a reverse and Harold Sedon could get usually even line play. The Trafford combine proved to be one of the heaviest teams ever to face the jackets and turned loose one of the best ends seen here in some time in the person of "High-pockets" Lubby. Geno Oeder, former Duquesne back, Snyder, Thomas and Elliott did the best they could with the jackets' tough line, and although they kept pretty well bottled up, it was easily seen that all four were dangerous customers and able to upset a ball game in a trice.

Art McKeehan, Harold Sedon, Frankie Martines, Harry Rosequist and Brown accounted for most of the jackets' yardage, with Check doing a fine bit of slinging and backing-up. Rosequist's booting was also a feature, one of the big fullbacks' punts traveling 80 yards from the Warren 20 into the Trafford end zone.

Trafford threatened twice in the first period, once getting to the jacket 20, added by a 15-yard penalty, but four passes were batted down. An interception started another Trafford march, stopped when Frank Siriani stepped in front of an aerial on the 18-yard line.

only a yard, but "Lefty" faded back a yard or two and shot a bullet pass which Bob Main took on the goal line. Rosequist then converted by placement, and the scoring was over for the afternoon.

The game was dedicated to the late Knute Rockne. During the half, the Rev. E. J. Jacobs, of St. Joseph's church, delivered a brief address, touching on the accomplishments of the great Notre Dame mentor and describing the spirit and qualities of "Rock" which made him the greatest figure in the sport and one of the most loved national figures of all time.

SPORT SCATTERINGS

Bill Rice

With the Jamestown game out of the way, Coach Leidig can get his starting combination back into drills this week and were toward stopping the Nursery combine which will have the visitors called sign-als instead of using the huddle, speeding up the local offense considerably and prevented the Jamestowners from catching their breath—which they seemed to be out of most of the game. The Red and Green called time on numerous occasions and sprawled all over the greenward while the Dragons, despite the beating they were taking, stayed on their feet and talked things over. There was no question of the superiority of the Moonmen to the patched-up lineup of Warren, however, except in physical condition and punting.

There are probably plenty of people kicking themselves for passing up yesterday's Red Jacket-Trafford game which proved to be a great contest from every standpoint. There were plenty of raised eyebrows before the game when the weight list of the visitors was published, but it was evident that none of the weights was exaggerated. Lubby and Boheme drew a big hand from the crowd for their defensive work, and after a few tries at that side of the line, the jackets gave up trying to get by and concentrated on the flank. Lubby, however, was not to be denied and sifted into the jacket backfield plenty of times to make his tackles from behind. Henne and Rog were unable to be present for the Trafford engagement, which was a disappointment, but Harold Brown proved to be as valuable on an end sweep as Henne. Which reminds us that we have a card signed "A Fan", asking us to suggest to Coach Wolfe that he try a backfield of Martines, Brown, Henne and Check. What do you want to do—scorch the grass?

You said it! ... The press box was pretty crowded for the Jamestown encounter, but it held up. Sports Editors George Dodd, of the Jamestown Journal, and Waite Forsyth, of the Post, scrambled atop the porch, and were joined by Johnny Nelson, Jr., of the Bradford Era, whose Owls were idle this week. ... Dodd and Nelson kept pretty busy, Pony-Leaguing it. ... Stu Maguire, sports columnist for the Journal, was getting the Moon side of the game from the Jamestown bench. ... Art McKeehan, who was injured in yesterday's go, will be back in action next Sunday—just a twist. ... and Mike Bleech, reserve fullback on the Dragons, received more than a sprain in practice last week—torn cartilage. ... A sprig of laurel from this bureau to Harry Summers and his Dragon band for their part in the annual classic. ... Coach Sherm Stanford, of Ridgway, one of the sweetest fellows in the business, was in the crowd, but his notebook was so concealed. ... His Elks met the Dragons here on November 2. You could see the Buchwald touch in the way those Red and Green linemen charged and kept charging after they were nearly on the ground. ... If the jackets trim McKeeport next Sunday they'll be target for every other team in the western half of Pennsylvania, for it will mean a virtually certain title for the locals.

PORT ALLEGANY TIPS SHEFFIELD IN TORRID TILT

Sheffield, Oct. 14.—Two fourth-quarter touchdown drives which failed, each one on the one-yard line deprived Sheffield of her second grid victory of the season here Saturday afternoon when the locals were nosed out 8 to 7, by a fighting Port Allegany Eleven.

A safety registered late in the first quarter and a 63-yard punt for a touchdown early in the second period, the latter by Halfback Herger, accounted for the 8 points scored by the invaders. The Wolverine touchdown against the rival Orange and Black was scored late in the third period. Pochatko plunging 3 yards for the marker and then adding the extra point with a place kick.

Early in the last period the Wolverines had a first down on the enemy 4-yd line. Pochatko swept around right end but, hit by a tackler on the 1-yd line, he fumbled, the ball rolling over the goal for a touchdown and robbing Sheffield of possession.

On the next to the last play of the game Sheffield, on all down, made two yards for a touchdown, but the invaders held Pochatko to only one on a smash into the center of the line. Instead of punting out, Port completed a 23-yd pass for its only first down of the game, just as the final whistle sounded. Sheffield recorded 10 first down in the contest.

The 60-piece Port Allegany H Band, put on a nice demonstration at half time and was followed on the field by the Wolverine Band, which also gave a good account of itself.

66 COUNTIES READY

Harrisburg, Oct. 14—(AP)—Commissioners from 66 counties notified Governor James today they are ready to register 1,500,000 Pennsylvanians Wednesday for possible military service.

"We'll hear from the other county before the day is out," the governor told his press conference.

He did not name the missing county.

The governor must forward to President Roosevelt by night fall formal certification that the state is ready for registration.

About 125,000 registration places have been located, usually at regular election precincts, though some states will use schools. Registration will take place between the hours of 7 a. m. and 9 p. m. local time.

Approximately 1,000,000 registrars—election officials or school teachers—are ready.

About 700,000 copies of the president's proclamation ordering the registration have been posted around the country in public places. No further official notice will be given.

Washington has sent out 730,000 booklets containing registration rules. Every registration board should have at least one copy.

Printed locally, 32,000,000 registration cards—roughly two to each registrant, to allow for spoilage—are distributed to registration boards, along with 25,000,000 registration certificates to be given to men who register.

Also printed locally, 25,000,000 information leaflets are ready for distribution to the registrants to inform them of their future duties under the draft.

Willful evaders of the registration are liable to penalties up to five years in prison and $10,000 fine.

Among the registration estimates for the cities were:

Pennsylvania: Erie, 14,000; Pittsburgh, 27,500; Reading, 13,600; Scranton, 16,800.

New Jersey: Camden, 14,800; Elizabeth, 15,800; Jersey City, 42,400; Newark, 61,100; Patterson, 18,771; Trenton, 15,900.

Ohio: Akron, 38,900; Canton, 14,900; Youngstown, 21,900.

The Eastern Algonquian Indian tribe is only 7.1 per cent pure-blooded.

Warren Is Host to Large Gathering Of Odd Fellows at Fall Convention; More Than 1,200 Attend Sessions

The largest gathering of Odd Fellows that Warren has entertained in a quarter of a century attended the sessions of the fall convention of the Odd Fellows' Association of Northwestern Pennsylvania, held here Saturday afternoon and evening. It was estimated that over 1,200 members of the order and their ladies were present at the meeting held in the First Presbyterian church.

Both sessions were presided over by Frank E. Hoshbach, of Erie, president of the association. Other officers of the association in attendance were H. I. Sharp, Diamond; H. S. Deeters, Reynoldsville; Jennie Budd, Sharon, vice president; J. P. Langdon, Oil City, treasurer; J. S. Sanborn, Titusville, secretary, and Rev. J. L. Murray, Chapmanville, chaplain.

The band from the I. O. O. F. Home at Meadville, played short programs before each meeting. During the afternoon sessions the delegates were welcomed by Burgess R. W. Stebel, with President Hoshbach responding, after which the business of the convention was disposed of so that the evening meeting could be devoted to entertainment.

At five o'clock the parade formed in Fourth avenue, moving shortly thereafter with the band from the home leading. All the lodges in the nineteen counties in the association were represented in the various divisions. There were four band organizations in the parade in addition to the one from the home including the Russell school band, the Veterans of Foreign Wars, Salvation Army and Dragon bands. of Warren. Uniformed groups in the parade were the Bradford Orientals and the Bradford Rebekah lodge degree team. The line of march was west on Fourth to Hazel, to Pennsylvania, to Market, to Third and disband at the church.

MUSTANG BACK SETS NEW PUNTING RECORD

Pittsburgh, Oct. 14. (UPI)—Wherever the talk is of football, the subject hereabouts is Preston Johnston's thrilling 92-yard punt in the fading moments of Southern Methodist's 7-7 battle with Pitt.

Propelled by the powerful muscles of the Mustang fullback, the ball sailed from behind the Southern Methodist goal line to just two yards from the Pitt goal. Scrimmaged from the six-yard stripe, it carried through the air to the Panther 35 and bounded the rest of the way.

The kick exceeded by three yards the longest recorded punt in intercollegiate grid history by Al Braga for San Francisco against Montana in 1937, and put to shame the historic 55-yard boot of Pitt's Bob Hogan in 1932 and the slightly longer punt of left-footed Sam Francis of Nebraska in 1935.

MANY ATTEND GROUP MEETING
A group of women representing various Warren and county W. C. T. U. units enjoyed a delicious luncheon in the dining room of the First Methodist church Thursday, tables being attractive in fall flowers.

The guest speaker, Justice of the Peace T. Richard Evans, held the close attention of his audience as he gave an interesting and worthwhile talk on the phases of his work related to liquor and the keeping of the law. He stressed the importance of home life and the responsibilities of mothers in the homes.

Dr. T. E. Colley offered prayer and Mrs. Mabel Dallas, of Sugar Grove, president of the county union, reported interestingly on the state convention. The program was ended with two lovely piano solos played by Miss Meredith Young.

ALLEY OOP How Does She Get That Way? By V. T. HAMLIN

They'll Bolster U. S. Authority in the Pacific

It was a routine sailing of the army transport Grant that took nearly 2000 soldiers and more than 100 officers away for duty in Hawaii, Guam and the Philippines, but tension in the Far East added a note of adventure to departure from dock at San Francisco.

by ANNE ADAMS
Here's a clever, "suit-your-type" style by Anne Adams. For Pattern 4596 can be either trim and tailored as a cadet's uniform, or gay with feminine frills. You'll find both versions radically simple to make, with the Sewing Instructor for guidance. The four-section skirt is in the narrower lines so in-style. The bodice has smart front and back panels and forms a low point at the front waistline. Notice the lovely buttoning at either shoulder. For the more tailored style use long sleeves and cut the neckline high and round. Then, for the gay at-home frock, let the neckline be pointed, make short sleeves and add pinafore ruffles, bias binding or colorful tie-rac.

Pattern 4596 is available in misses' sizes 12, 14, 16, 18 and 20. Size 16 takes 2 1/2 yards 54 inch fabric.
